

THE ROOSEVELT.

The New York Governor is Sure to Be Nominated For Vice President.

WILL PROBABLY BE BY ACCLAMATION

Roosevelt Himself Knows That He Will Be Nominated and Will Make No Further Statement.

The Platform Adopted Renews Allegiance to the Principles of the Gold Standard and Endorses McKinley's Foreign Policy.

Philadelphia, June 21.—Contrary to all expectations, no nomination was made at yesterday's convention. It was first intended to nominate McKinley for president and let the vice presidential nomination go over, but the Roosevelt tide caused a change in this programme. It was hoped by adjourning before a president had been placed in nomination that a stop might be put to the Roosevelt boom and some other candidate might be selected by the opponents of the New York governor, but they were mistaken, for the stampede which began on Sunday has hourly increased, and his nomination is now certain.

Roosevelt will probably be nominated for vice president by acclamation. The plan is that when the time comes for nominating a vice president, and a roll call of states reaches Iowa and delegates will be ready to drop Buller and place Roosevelt in nomination, Massachusetts will follow, withdrawing Long and seconding the nomination of Roosevelt. This is the plan, and if it is done there will be no need for a ballot, for indeed it is possible that Lieut. Gov. Woodruff may himself make the motion on behalf of New York state to suspend the rules and make Roosevelt's nomination unanimous.

Roosevelt himself will make no further statement, nor is there the least probability that he will decline the nomination when it comes.

Following is the platform adopted:

The Republicans of the United States, through their chosen representatives in national convention looking back upon an unimpaired record of achievement and looking forward into a great field of duty and action, are united in the belief that the American people have a right to expect a government which will maintain the principles of the republic, protect the rights of the citizen, and secure the peace and prosperity of the nation.

The country's capital was not only safe, but it was a place where the people could find the most efficient and economical government. The country's capital was not only safe, but it was a place where the people could find the most efficient and economical government.

The country's capital was not only safe, but it was a place where the people could find the most efficient and economical government. The country's capital was not only safe, but it was a place where the people could find the most efficient and economical government.

The country's capital was not only safe, but it was a place where the people could find the most efficient and economical government. The country's capital was not only safe, but it was a place where the people could find the most efficient and economical government.

Agency, the election of a democratic president could not fail to impair the country's credit and to bring upon it more into question the integrity of its government.

Adm. Seymour's International Relief Column Has at Last Reached Peking.

FIVE HUNDRED CHINESE WERE KILLED

Frequent Fighting Took Place During the March, Five Times Being Attacked in Great Force.

The Exact State of Affairs Inside of Peking It Is Impossible to Describe on Account of the Conflicting Reports.

London, June 21.—A news agency dispatch from Shanghai, dated June 20, says:

"After an arduous march and frequent fighting with the Chinese, Vice Adm. Seymour arrived at Peking Sunday afternoon. On the occasion the Chinese attacked the column in great force. There were many mounted men among the Chinese, but most of the natives were badly armed. At times they fought with admirable courage and bravery. The losses of the Chinese during the march are estimated at 500 killed. The losses of the foreigners were trifling.

"The exact state of affairs inside Peking it is impossible to describe. In view of the conflicting reports nothing having been received from the legations or foreigners there.

"Surprise is expressed at the fact that a large force of Indian troops has not been ordered here."

This dispatch has not been verified, but the Italian consul at Shanghai has wired to the Italian foreign minister, Marquis Visconti-Venosta, that the legations are safe. The rebellion is spreading far and wide. There is an impression in diplomatic circles here and on the continent that the allies have not yet grappled with the situation effectively, and that even 50,000 troops would be powerless to do much to control 4,000,000 square miles.

MORE DYNAMITE FOUND.

Two Striking Motormen of St. Louis Will Be Re-arrested on a Serious Charge.

St. Louis, June 21.—Police officers have just found ten pounds of dynamite in the house occupied by Luther Smith, 1808 E. Second St., one of the striking motormen. Four pounds were found in the house Tuesday, when the two men were arrested on suspicion of having incited in the blowing up of a car at Cardinal and Chouteau avenues. The men have been released on bonds.

Associated Press. Attorney Johnson proposed to prosecute the prisoners under a section of the Fish law, which forbids the storing of dynamite of any quantity in the city without a permit from the mayor. A violation of the law is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than $50 or imprisonment of not more than a year.

Smith has been identified as the man who shot J. R. Richardson, a Laclede avenue conductor, May 15, and also as one of the men who assisted in pulling the motorman from the car at Cardinal and Chouteau avenues. Warrants will be applied for in both cases.

Another woman was assaulted last night at the intersection of the two streets. She was badly injured, and her assailant was taken to the hospital. She was released on bonds.

IN TRANSVAL TERRITORY.

The British Forces Have Reached Machadodorp, the Boers Having Abandoned the Place.

London, June 21.—The British have penetrated Transvaal territory as far as Machadodorp. Passengers who arrived yesterday at Lourenço Marques from the Transvaal report that they had seen a large number of Boers who had abandoned Machadodorp, racing northward.

His operations regarding Gen. De Wet's communications assert that two army corps were captured and 300 women were taken to the interior. It is reported from Lourenço Marques that a resident of Komati Poort has been arrested and shot by the Boers for complicity in the breaking down of the Malani bridge.

A member of the British house of commons, who has had an important mission in South Africa, is telling a story of a telegram alleged to have been received from Cape Town which says Mr. Kruger has really escaped from his confinement in the island of Robben, and that the person occupying the executive car is not Mr. Kruger, but a substitute.

Surveys from Pretoria dated June 17 say that an official warning has been issued to the effect that any further wrecking of communications will be followed by the demolition of the farms for five miles on both sides.

The Pretoria correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, in a dispatch dated Sunday, says: "An informal truce for five days is in operation between Lord Roberts and Commandant General Botha."

WEDDING BELLS.

Miss Mary T. Cox and Mr. Harry P. Collins Happily Married.

Last night at 8 o'clock the guests began arriving at the Cox mansion on East Third street for the nuptials of Miss Mary Thomas Cox and Mr. Harry Peers Collins, and when the hour for the ceremony arrived, 9 o'clock, 125 friends of the contracting parties, old and young, were present.

A line of lovely girls and handsome young men, friends of the bride, was arranged in the salon to greet the guests as they came down the stairs.

The whole home had been changed from its wonted system to a most artistic however. Placards of flowers and vines met, banked and trailed after every conceivable vantage point, and with snow-white lantern, brilliant lighting and most bewitching music is it any wonder that anything but happiness could follow a couple thus united?

The nuptial-room proper was made of the drawing-room which is to the right of the hall. Into this had been thrown the artists' real work. Deft hands and originating minds had transmuted until birds singing and brooks rippling were coming to make the room a veritable Eden. The double mantels were hid behind a wealth of green, through which were cast marguerites. At their base palms and ferns relieved the grand expanse, while a silver lighted candelabra glowed from out their center. Between the mantels and running from the great chandelier across the room confining the low window a canopy of tasseled beauty spread itself as though Fortuna would send them there to evade and catch any sorrow or trouble or care which ill-luck sometimes sends. This canopy was of green and marguerites, with a delicate cord fringe bordering either side.

From the center two silver bells were suspended, linked together by a lover's knotted ribbon. These emitted no inharmonious jangling, but a harmony of chords chiming peace, prosperity, pleasure.

The room was a blaze of light, and the hands of the clock revealed the appointed time the strains of music from a distant nook gave warning of the advent of the party. The aisle of ribbon was made by Mr. Robert Lynn Hoodless and Mr. Harry Carroll Curran, who were the ushers and led the way to the improvised altar including Rev. J. C. Molloy, D.D. Then the groom, Mr. Harry Peers Collins, upon the arm of his best man, Mr. P. L. Clifton. At a stately distance came the bride, escorted by Dr. Peters and wife of Sharpsburg, and strains of Lohengrin they approached the presence of the Minister, and grouping themselves about the altar, stood to receive and to give the vows.

To a murmuring sweetness the music sank and "Always" floated out in cadences in perfect harmony with the solemn occasion of which it was a part. The first of the Pittsburgh townships have reached Cincinnati without mishap, and have started for Louisville. Those that got away Monday are also making good time.

Seldom has a young couple been so impressed with the solemnity of the vows as was apparent by the ease and great sincerity with which they expressed their willingness to be united for life.

As soon as the benediction had been pronounced and the moment during the silence which comes with the Amen, the music burst forth and the bride and groom turned to face the company as Mr. and Mrs. Collins.

For the next twenty minutes congratulatory and hearty good wishes were showered upon them.

As they started to the refreshment room they passed by the wedding register in the library, which had been received as a gift and in which the marriage certificate, contracting parties, attendants and guests had registered their names.

In the dining-room was arranged the bride's table in pink and green. From the chandeliers to the points of the damask cloth ribbon fell, along which ran similar, beaded pink-shaded silver candelabra made the room brilliant, while roses and pinks banked the side-board, mantels and center cloth.

The refreshments by Traxel were of pink and white, the cakes in hearts and rings, and throughout the whole, emblematic of the occasion, the guests were reminded that a most brilliant wedding was being enacted.

The bride's dress was a beautiful creation—white garlands of the most delicate fabric, with lace and ribbon, a bodice sheered across the bust and with the neck ending by the stock of ribbon, with sleeves running full to gloves of similar hue. She carried a huge bunch of Bride Roses, and over her lovely form fell the filmy veil, caught at her coiffure with a golden blossom. A stately picture to behold.

At 10 o'clock the bride and groom driven traveling apparel and were driven to the local train for their honeymoon trip, which will be spent at Old Point Comfort. Returning in fortnight, Mr. and Mrs. Collins will take up their residence near Parkersburg, W. Va., where he is a prosperous coke oven owner.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Val P. Collins of Covington, and is a young man who is destined to become prosperous in every department of life.

The list of guests who came to attend the marriage were Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Gates, Miss Gates, the Misses Dewar of Portsmouth, Porters, Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Val P. Collins and Miss Collins of Covington, Miss Stoll of Lexington, Miss Stoll of Maysville, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wood & Son, Druggists.

The new Christian Church at Grange City will be dedicated in July.

RIVER NEWS.

The Pearce is due up tonight for Portsmouth.

The Courier will pass down tonight from Pomeroy.

The towboat William Ernst is now the J. B. Lewis.

For J. O. Cole and Crown Hill passed up today for timber.

The Henry M. Stanley takes in the Kanawha this trip, passing up tonight.

The Snagboat Woodruff removed the wreck of the steamer Pacific at Davis Island Dam.

Thousands of logs and ties out of the Big Sandy river have things "kinder" stuffed at Catlettsburg.

The John Maren passed down yesterday with six model barges and ten square barges in her tow.

The Bonanza beat the Pittsburgh to Cincinnati Sunday, and the Cincinnati beat her back to Louisville Monday.

The Keystone State, with a big trip of freight and passengers from Pittsburgh, passed down last night. She will return tonight.

The big Pittsburgh coal fleet will begin to pass this city some time today, and it will keep things lively on the river front until it passes.

The George Shiras passed down with a tow of forty ships from Pittsburgh. While it is not a heavy tow, it covers a large amount of river space.

Captain Oscar F. Barrett, who has been very ill for nearly a week, was able to sit up a short time Tuesday, and he hopes to get out in a few days.

The Bonanza is running in the Cincinnati line in place of the City of Cincinnati, while the latter is keeping company with the orphan—the City of Pittsburgh.

An additional coal shipment of 1,100,000 bushels was made Tuesday from Pittsburgh, and the total amount of coal to leave for Southern markets thus far, counting what went Saturday, the first day of the rise, is about 9,000,000 bushels. The Ohio has started to fall rapidly. On account of the scarcity of towboats the shipment made Tuesday was below expectations, and release some of the boats that left last week for nearly points with tows get in to-day there will be no coal sent South.

The list of the Pittsburgh towboats have reached Cincinnati without mishap, and have started for Louisville. Those that got away Monday are also making good time.

Returning in fortnight, Mr. and Mrs. Collins will take up their residence near Parkersburg, W. Va., where he is a prosperous coke oven owner.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Val P. Collins of Covington, and is a young man who is destined to become prosperous in every department of life.

The list of guests who came to attend the marriage were Mr. and Mrs. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Gates, Miss Gates, the Misses Dewar of Portsmouth, Porters, Monroe, Mr. and Mrs. Val P. Collins and Miss Collins of Covington, Miss Stoll of Lexington, Miss Stoll of Maysville, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Wood & Son, Druggists.

The new Christian Church at Grange City will be dedicated in July.

Many a man has been insured against fire, burglary, theft, or other damage, and yet not a cent of the policy has been used. It is a pity that so many men should be so wasteful. J. J. Wood & Son and Armstrong & Co.
